Placemaking

Lecturers: Hadas Kedar and Shira Lapidot

The course is based on a theoretical introduction and a hands-on experience of a collaborative process in which students together with the Mezach community (The Center for Social Rights) in the southern city of Sderot (Gaza Envelope) invite residents to participate in the project. The course focuses on the principles of Place Making through the analysis of a series of test cases in conflict zones around the globe. The later stages of the project implement the ideas developed in the theoretical division through collaboration with all parties involved.
